

A New Year, A New Start and New Possibilities

Description

Happy 2011 everyone!

It is five days into the new year, and I hope everyone is still sticking to their New Year's resolutions (or at least trying to).

I am excited and thrilled to say that the new year has started off with a bang, as something I wrote was chosen to be out on the Scientific American Guest Blog.

Yes, one of the most prestigious science magazines asked me to write a post, and I said yes without hesitation. But, now I was faced with the daunting task of what to write about.

Those of you who read my blog regularly know that in the summer of 2009, I embarked on a journey to South Dakota for my Masters of Journalism project to find an endangered species. My adventures were a very interesting one, and I always thought that there was more than enough material for my project as well as another article.

I pitched it to SciAm, and they loved it!

So, here is a more in-depth look at me spending a few days with "The Ferret Hunters"

Category

1. 2011
2. Black footed ferrets
3. MRP
4. Scientific American

Date Created

January 5, 2011

Author

mrmanly2hotmail-com