My Weird Life

Description

So tired â€¦! my body is aching from lack of sleep, and plain olâ€™™ overwork. And the proverbial IN pile never seems to decrease, no matter how productive I am.

sigh

And, to make my life EVEN busier, I took on a little side project.

A friend of mine I made via Twitter, Dr. Debby Herbenick PhD, runs the website called My Sex Professor (Located here). In case you cannot tell by the name of her website, she is a sex health researcher with Indiana University.

Once day, over Twitter, she mentioned something about weird facts. So, I sent her one about how flatworms â€œopenis fence,â€ and she LOVED it.

She asked me if I knew any more weird animal mating facts.

Naturally, being the kind of guy who is obsessed with learning everything about animals he can, I said â€œohhh yeah.â€

So, she invited me to Guest Blog.

And here is the final product, called â€œWeird & Wild: Five Ways Animals Get Creative About Sex.
â€œ

It was a BLAST to research and write.

As I told someone earlier today, I really havenâ€™™ had that much fun writing since I started J-school. Tells you something, doesnâ€™™ it?

I hope you enjoy reading it, and let me know what you think!
